perplexities of living to a great age, as related by a wide range of men and women: miners, villagers, doctors, teachers, craftsmen, soldiers, priests, the widowed and long-retired. Their voices are set in the context of what literature, art, religion and medicine over the centuries have said about ageing.

The View in Winter by Ronald Blythe - Paperback

'The View In Winter' is about town as well as country people - men and women who share the ultimate human bond, that of being very old. Whether philosophical or despairing about their long years, Ronald Blythe discovers in their talk much that helps us to understand the natural but isolating experience of living to a great age.

The View - Winter

Storyline In Winter is an independent feature emerging from the classical European tradition but presented in a timeless North American context and idiom, shot in northern MN USA. We join Annika, a stoic and solitary young woman in difficult circumstances, in the barren human landscape of a small working class northern town in mid-winter.
