The Proverbs warn us to: “watch over your heart with all diligence, for from it flow the springs of life” (4:23). Life as a disciple of Christ—amidst the challenges of an academic career and family responsibilities—always requires a nurtured heart. Ronna and I have found that to nurture the heart we must almost always pursue solitude.

Developed by Howard Glasser, this approach allows us to turn the most challenging situations toward success by focusing on individual skills and qualities and promoting our 'inner wealth'. The Nurtured Heart Approach® is used in all our services with very positive results. At the core of the Approach are 'The 3 Stands' - All three are necessary promises that we must be determined to keep if we are to create nurturing habits and make big changes:

The Nurtured Heart Approach | The Benjamin Foundation

This is the time that I lost friends, hurt my family, and found myself having to justify my faith to others, and it takes strength to face that challenge. But I feel like my belief at that time was like a sapling tree, delicate and hopeful. I needed to nurture it to have it put down roots and not be blown down by a strong wind.
