Problem: One of the turbo hoses is especially prone to cracking on the 156. The bottom of the two hoses is the most prone to cracking, as it rubs against a screw. Some common symptoms of this failure are excessive whistling noises coming from the turbo (on top of the engine), black smoke from the exhaust when accelerating, or the possibility of increased fuel consumption.

When looking at a used Alfa 156, check the panel gaps to make sure they are all even as accident damage can show up in the poor fit of panels. Check the trims around windows and doors for overspray as this is also an area where accident damage will show up. Another tell tail sign is paint chipped off various panel fastenings or nuts and bolts.
