Pest control is the regulation or management of a species defined as a pest, a member of the animal kingdom that impacts adversely on human activities. The human response depends on the importance of the damage done and will range from tolerance, through deterrence and management, to attempts to completely eradicate the pest. Pest control measures may be performed as part of an integrated pest management strategy. In agriculture, pests are kept at bay by cultural, chemical and biological means.

Pest control - Wikipedia

True Bugs are the most common of all the agricultural pests. The term encompasses all bugs from aphids to whiteflies. They eat the plant by getting to its core and sucking out its sap. A lot of bugs are tiny and hard to see, but the damage is obvious because they can destroy an entire field in just a few days.
