Chapter 4. Central Nervous System

Describe the organization and function of the sensory-somatic nervous system The peripheral nervous system (PNS) is the connection between the central nervous system and the rest of the body. The CNS is like the power plant of the nervous system. It creates the signals that control the functions of the body.

16.4 The Peripheral Nervous System - Concepts of Biology ...

The central nervous system (CNS) is made up of two organs: the brain and the spinal cord. These organs receive information from the outside world (sensory), process that information, and send a response to the body (motor). The peripheral nervous system (PNS) is made of all the nerves that arise from the brain and spinal cord, and then travel throughout the body.
