Boat engines are actually very similar to car engines, and with both, engine alignment is very important. All engines burn fuel to create a spinning momentum, which is then used to move the boat. If the engine is not aligned properly then this will create excessive vibration, which will damage the engine and could also shake your boat enough to cause damage.

How to Align Boat Engines | DoltYourself.com

One engine at a time, start from neutral, put the engine in gear and accelerate hard, up to no more than 1/3 throttle. Repeat this process in reverse, all the while watching the mounts for movement. If the engine and mount are moving more than 1/8" in any direction, your mounts are not doing their job of holding the engine in place.
