Expo 58 was an important historical event which still occupies a huge place in the collective memory of the Belgian people: the first such event after the Second World War, and a significant milestone in the reconciliation between the warring nations; the beginning of a closer co-operation between the European countries, shortly after the Treaty of Rome had been signed; and a landmark in the development of modern technology and architectural design.

Expo 58, by Jonathan Coe - review | The Spectator

Jonathan Coe was born in Birmingham in 1961. Expo 58 is his tenth novel. The previous nine are all available in Penguin: The Accidental Woman, A Touch of Love, The Dwarves of Death, What a Carve Up!

Expo 58: Amazon.co.uk: Coe, Jonathan: 9780241968864: Books

Coe loves to write oblivious characters and in Expo 58 he weaves Central Office of Information junior copywriter Thomas Foley into a Cold War spy thriller. Though Foley knows he's involved in some kind of espionage, his unassuming nature means he never quite has a grip on what's happening around him.
