Good morning all, I have an SL-35 that is giving me fits....well probably more the incompetent repair company is giving me fits! I am hoping with some help I can trouble shoot this myself getting it back up and running. I attached an image of the alarm on the screen, the OT032 popped up after I unplugged the encoder cable to check continuity. we hired a repair company to help us, they came in ...

Mori Seiki SL-3 turret alignment question I've noticed some things with my lathe that point to a turret being radially misaligned (oversize drilled holes etc). I indicated it per the manual I have, indicating an OD turning pocket in the turret in X, and it's straight to .0005 across its length. However, if I sweep a boring bar holder, they're consistently .003-.004 out in Y. I would assume ...
