The key difference between compressible and incompressible fluids is that the compressible fluids occur in reality whereas the incompressible fluids is a concept developed for ease of calculations.. Fluids are either gases or liquids that take the shape of the container. In fluid dynamics, the compressibility of a fluid is a very important factor. In nature, all the fluids are compressible, but ...

Difference Between Compressible and Incompressible Fluids ...

Solution We are to discuss the difference between uniform and nonuniform flow.

Analysis The flow in a channel is said to be uniform if the flow depth (and thus the average velocity) remains constant. Otherwise, the flow is said to be nonuniform or varied, indicating that the flow depth varies with distance in the flow direction.
