How Do We Know Students

August 1, 2016 - Updated on April 28, 2020. in Teaching. One of our primary goals at the beginning of the school year is to get to know our students. This is important for several reasons. First, the better we know our students, and the more they know we know them, the more invested they become in school. Also, a dynamic and vigorous learning environment is built on relationships.

6 Strategies For Getting To Know Your Students

One of the questions I've been grappling with is, how do we know we're culturally responsive if we're not listening to our students? In my book The Listening Leader: Creating the Conditions for Equitable School Transformation, I offer a reframing of data that encourages educators to treat human experience, and particularly student voice, as sources of data, which I divide into three levels.
