The I Ching was originally composed by Taoist masters who's understanding of life matches to how modern physics describes it today. Additionally, they were inspired by natural processes where only now we are recognizing how nature can be a teacher. Think of the answer as a koan or riddle - this is not an oracle with random messages to be rushed through.

Which translation of the I Ching do you use? I've been alternating between various online resources and "the I Ching of Mi-Lo", but I'm not sure I'd recommend that last one (no disrespect to LMD, it just seems like that is the kind of book you'd want to write for yourself rather than adopting someone else's take).

Tarot versus I-Ching : occult

The original I Ching is filled with references to Chinese historical figures and ancient cultural references, and may be difficult for many readers. This modern I Ching translation has been carefully written to preserve the philosophical and spiritual meanings of the original, while leaving behind some of the more arcane historic references.
