Continue drying the buds until their outsides are dry to the touch and small stems snap off when you bend: This process takes 3 to 7 days normally, but if they dry in less than 3 to 4 days it may mean that your buds dried too fast, but that's fine - apply your learnings for the next time you dry and cure cannabis. Buds that have dried too fast can still benefit from curing although it may take longer for them to be fully cured.
