Question Date: 2013-02-14. Answer 1: We don't know for sure that space never ends. It seems most likely that either space goes on forever or that it wraps back around on itself like a circle.

Everything we know about the universe tells us that space is pretty flat, but that just means that if space is like a circle it must be a really huge circle, so huge that the part of it we can see is just a tiny piece.
