The Uncomfortable Truth About Employee Engagement By Advanced Time Team We've all seen it so many times that we've come to expect it: Employees show up, go through the motions, perform their job functions, but display little to no enthusiasm for their work. While it isn't unusual, it's surprisingly common.

The Uncomfortable Truth About Employee Engagement ...

Sean's workshop on 'The Truth About Employee Engagement' deals with making sure that your employees become more engaged with the work they do. Studies in the U.S. show that increasing employee engagement even in the slightest way can result in: * 37% lower absenteeism * 25% lower turnover (in high-turnover organizations)

The Truth About Employee Engagement Workshop

The second inconvenient truth is, a survey is not an employee engagement solution. It is a vehicle by which you can more precisely focus on engagement and you must be committed to act in earnest. Conducting a survey without being fully prepared to accept the results and take meaningful actions will actually do more damage than good.
