Musculoskeletal injuries from patient handling account for a considerable number of manual handling injuries to nurses, midwives and other healthcare workers.

Manual Handling | Ausmed

Manual handling refers to the moving of items/people either by lifting, lowering, carrying, pushing or pulling. While the weight of an object handled can be a cause of injury, the frequency with which the movement is repeated, the distance which an item is carried or moved, and the height at which an object is picked up/put down from are also sources of injury.

Principles of manual handling | Nurse Key

When all full-time nurses working at the medical centre are considered, the prevalence of all manual handling injuries was 20·6% (n=108) and 15·7% (n=87) for back injuries. About two-thirds (67·6%) of all manual handling injuries were associated with direct patient care activities and another third (32·4%) with non-direct patient care activities.
