Barking Tom Holt

Barking by Tom Holt starts off a bit dull unless you are terribly fond of puns or your ideal protagonist is a hopeless twit who became a tax lawyer and found his work really boring. Once you give serious consideration to Holt's idea, however, that the practice of law is really better suited to werewolves and vampires than humans, things pick up rather nicely.

Barking is a solid book by author Tom Holt. I would recommend reading either this book or "Falling Sideways" to introduce a new reader to Holt's work. A madcap tale involving werewolves, vampires, zombies, and (gasp!) lawyers, this book is filled with gags and does not disappoint.

Tom Holt was born in London in 1961. At Oxford he studied bar billiards, ancient Greek agriculture and the care and feeding of small, temperamental Japanese motorcycle engines; interests which led him, perhaps inevitably, to qualify as a solicitor and emigrate to Somerset, where he specialized in death and taxes for seven years before going straight in 1995.
