Our Mutual Friend Charles Dickens

Our Mutual Friend, written in the years 1864-1865, is the last novel completed by Charles Dickens and is one of his most sophisticated works, combining savage satire with social analysis. It centres on, in the words of critic J. Hillis Miller, quoting from the character Bella Wilfer in the book, "money, money, money, and what money can make of life".

Our Mutual Friend - Wikipedia

There has been much critical discussion concerning Our Mutual Friend. In my opinion it is not the best by Dickens, but ranks among the top few. It has humour, social passion, a sense of place, some Gothic elements, romantic interest and some characters who transcend caricature. Even the author tried to defend the plot!
