Marcus Aurelius and “The Good Life” Individuality is the most important thing in leading a good life. The greatest step is finding people who accept you for what you are and can live with both the good and the bad things about you.

Marcus Aurelius and “The Good Life“ - The Phoenix Desertsong

The writings of Epictetus, Marcus Aurelius and Seneca tell us much more about how to lead a good life than the ones collected here. Cicero wrote widely on philosophy, and other works of his may cover the theme of the title, but don't expect to find much on the good life that is valid outside of the context and society in which it was written.
